Parish Newsletter

13th May 2018

I WILL NOT LEAVE YOU ORPHANS, SAYS THE LORD;

I WILL COME BACK TO YOU, AND YOUR HEARTS WILL BE FULL OF JOY.

Today's Mass: Seventh Sunday of Easter (Year B)

First Reading: after Christ's resurrection, the eleven apostles had to restore their number to the sacred number of twelve. They nominated two candidates, prayed, and drew lots. Drawing lots was considered an act of faith in God's judgement, avoiding the vagaries of human manipulation or prejudice. These twelve – now including Matthias – will preach to the people of the twelve tribes at Pentecost.

The Psalm is a hymn of thanksgiving for God's constant mercy and his care of the poor and humble.

Second Reading: God's love binds us to God and to one another. "No one has ever seen God" but God remains in us in our love for one another.

Gospel: in John's account of the Last Supper Jesus addresses his Father in prayer, praying that His disciples may persevere despite the world's hatred of them, that they may share in His own joy to the full, and that they may be consecrated in the truth.

The first line in today's Gospel is where the phrase "and with eyes raised to heaven" in the Roman Canon comes from. The rubric in that Prayer instructs the priest – acting in the person of Christ at Mass - to do the same: 'He raises his eyes'.

Bereavement Support Group

You may have been wondering how the Bereavement Support Group is coming along. Here's a little more feedback from someone who has been a few times, which may encourage those of you who may be thinking of coming along. We know it is not easy to join a group when you are not sure what to expect but you will find a very warm welcome.

"I didn't know what to expect when I went to the meeting but I felt I needed to talk to others who understood bereavement. It is an opportunity to share your experience of bereavement without feeling guilty. It's a chance to listen to others or ask questions. Just to talk in this environment has been helpful"

Our next meeting is on Monday 21st May in the Parish Centre from 10.30 am – 12 noon. Do come along.

If you would like more details, please phone either Ronnie Campbell 01732 452988, Isabelle Parsons 01732 462504 or Sarah Harrison 01959 522357

*Let us pray, through the intercession of Mary Queen of Peace, for peace on earth and an end to violence and terrorism in our world,
 for a new spirit of trust and collaboration between nations,
 for the gift of wisdom for our politicians and leaders, and especially for the resolution of long-standing conflicts in Syria, Gaza and Ukraine, and in other countries around the world.*

PARISH NOTICES

Confirmation 2018

The Right Reverend Paul Mason will be coming to St Thomas's on Sunday 25th November for the annual Confirmation Mass. The church teaches us that "the reception of the sacrament of Confirmation is necessary for the completion of baptismal grace" (Catechism of the Catholic Church 1285). Confirmation is the third and final stage of Christian initiation, and so "the faithful are obliged to receive this sacrament at the appropriate time, for without Confirmation ... Christian initiation remains incomplete" (Catechism 1306).

All those currently in Year 9 or above who have not yet been Confirmed should apply to complete the preparation programme. There will be a Confirmation Sign-up meeting on Tuesday 15th May at 8:00pm in St Thomas's for parents and candidates. There will then be two further evenings for candidates on Thursday 14th June and Thursday 28th June. The programme will then continue in earnest in September.

If you are unable to attend this meeting please email Fr David - frdavid@sevrparish.org.uk.

GDPR Update

Hard Copies of Parish Data

As you may be aware new data protection legislation comes into force on 25th May 2018.

One of the actions we need to undertake is to know who in the parish has access to personal information on fellow parishioners.

I know that a great number of you currently volunteer for the parish or may have done so in the past and may have such information at your home as hardcopy. Please could you let Ingrid, our parish secretary, know if this applies to you (parish.office@sevrparish.org.uk) by 20th May so that we can let you know what actions you will need to take.

While we wait for further guidance from the Diocese on electronic data, please can all parishioners who hold any electronic data on fellow parishioners please ensure it is only used for the purpose it was intended, and that any loss of data is reported immediately.

The Archbishop is encouraging all of us to help implement these changes and I thank you in advance for your co-operation. Further information will follow as we receive this from the Diocese.

Handing on the Faith in the Home: 1

To hand on to your children the faith you received from your parents is your first duty and your greatest privilege as parents. The home should be the first school of religion, as it must be the first school of prayer." (Pope St John Paul II speaking in Limerick, Ireland in 1979.)

Over and over again in the scriptures it is repeated that faith in the true God is handed on from parents to children and grandchildren. For example Exodus 12:27: "when your children ask you 'what does this ritual mean?', you will tell them" and Psalm 78: 5-7: "God gave our ancestors strict orders to teach it to their children". Faith begins at home and parents are its first teachers. The Church constantly reminds us of this; the Second Vatican Council said "parents are the first and foremost educators of their children" (Gravissimum Educationis 3).

Handing on the Faith

This education in the faith is first and foremost tradition, in its basic Christian meaning of 'handing on'. It means handing on the faith from father and mother to son and daughter, to grandson and granddaughter. The link across the generations should not be broken; no 'generation gap' must ever be allowed to break this continuity of handing on the faith; if ever one generation is lost to the faith, it is difficult for future generations to recover it.

So parents must choose (and here I am quoting from a Pastoral Letter of the Bishops of Ireland): you can either be a 'hander on' or a deserter and betrayer. Parents either hand on their faith to their children or they hand on unbelief. To take a neutral stance and 'let the child decide for him/her self' when he/she grows up is to take a decision already for the child, and that decision is that faith isn't really important. It is like a relay team, believers passing on the baton of faith to believers. Put the baton aside, and

The Catholic School

Nor can parents farm out this responsibility to the Catholic school. However good the school may be – and we are blessed in this parish and diocese with outstanding Catholic schools – no teacher, RE syllabus, no priest even, can ever replace the parents in this task. Our Catholic teachers are exceptional examples of the lay apostolate, but unless there is prayer and the practice of the faith at home the child's religious practice will end, especially if they go on to a non-Catholic secondary school. Also, as RE is the most important subject at a Catholic school, parents should take a supportive interest in what their children are taught about the faith in the school.

Children, when you come home from school each day, tell your parents what you learned about the faith. Show them what prayers you have learnt. After all, they may learn something too!

PARENTS ARE THE FIRST AND FOREMOST EDUCATORS OF THEIR CHILDREN.

Love

There must be faith and religion in the home, but there is no faith without love. If children do not find love in their home, then something goes wrong with their belief in God. Young people need understanding, acceptance, affection, and security. The way in which husbands and wives love each other – or fail to love each other – is a very significant part of how children learn about the faith. Communication, along with trust and openness, is vital. This means taking time to talk with one another and to listen to one another. Homes which are full of religion but empty of love will turn young people off the faith and God. Remember the Holy Thursday chant: 'ubi caritas et amor, Deus ibi est' (where charity and love are, there is God).

Teenagers, do you try to communicate with your parents? Communication should work both ways. Don't leave your parents to make all the effort. Trust in your parents, believe in their love for you. Listen to them, and tell them what you are thinking. Love should work both ways as well.
